

The Drexel Mission Schools

Ascension Catholic School has been an anchor on the north side of Minneapolis for more than 125 years. Grades K–8, 280 students.

Blessed Trinity Catholic School in Richfield has two campuses: One for preK–3 and one for grades 4–8. Grades K–8, 200 students; 19 students in preschool.

Community of Saints Regional Catholic School in West St. Paul has grown by more than 55 percent in the last five years with innovative programs and partnerships. Grades K–8, 213 students; 32 in preschool.

Immaculate Conception Catholic School in Columbia Heights was among the first schools in the archdiocese to adopt a blended learning model. Grades K–8, 164 students; 23 in preschool.

Risen Christ Catholic School in Minneapolis teaches students in English and Spanish as the only Catholic school in Minnesota to offer a dual-language immersion program. Grades K–8, 348 students.

St. Alphonsus Catholic School in Brooklyn Center has 148 students in K–8 and 27 in preschool. One hundred percent of current parents rate the school as good or excellent for class size; 97 percent rate it good or excellent for satisfaction with faculty.

St. Jerome School in Maplewood is a “school home” for refugee families seeking a Catholic education. About 50 percent of its students are ethnic Karen from Myanmar, formerly Burma. Grades K–8, 171 students; 31 in preschool.

St. John Paul II Catholic School is a K–8 school in Minneapolis with 158 students. The majority of its students are from Ecuador. In its early days, many students came from Polish immigrant families.

St. Peter Claver Catholic School is rooted in African-American tradition and plays an important role in its St. Paul neighborhood. Grades K–8, 100 students. St. Peter Claver is part of the Ascension Catholic Academy network, along with Ascension and St. John Paul II in Minneapolis.

St. Pascal Regional Catholic School is a 73-year-old K–8 school in St. Paul with 113 students, plus 13 in preschool. With fantastic academic results, it welcomes students of all backgrounds.