U.S. large cap equity markets were positive during the third quarter, though gains slowed from the second quarter's rally, while international equity markets were mixed. U.S. equity markets, as measured by the S&P 500 Index, gained 2.3%. Energy (+17.2%) and Information Technology (+7.2%) led all sectors, as renewed conflict in the Middle East drove oil prices higher and AI-related capital spending continued to support technology. Utilities (-12.4%) and Industrials (-9.7%) lagged as rising bond yields weighed on rate-sensitive areas of the market. The U.S. Dollar was relatively unchanged during the quarter, appreciating against the Euro while depreciating against the Japanese yen and Chinese yuan. Developed Non-U.S. Markets, as measured by the MSCI EAFE Index, gained 0.8% and Emerging Markets, as measured by the MSCI Emerging Markets Index, declined 0.4%.

The Federal Reserve raised interest rates by 25 basis points in September, moving the policy range to 3.75 – 4.00%, the first rate hike since July 2023.

The 10-year treasury yield ended the quarter at 5.3%, while the 30-year ended at 5.6%.

The Passive Pool underperformed its Benchmark during the quarter by 130 bps. The U.S. Equity allocation's underperformance (+0.2% vs. +1.4%) hindered relative returns.
